FOREWORD

The purpose of this booklet is to make readily available a list of the hospitals of Canada. Every effort has been made to verify the information given. The expansion of hospital facilities has been so great, during the past few years, that available statistics are very soon rendered obsolete. We express regret if any errors or omissions are noted in these pages. A few hospitals did not reply to repeated requests for information, and in such instances, we have furnished the most recent information available. Information concerning omissions or errors will be gratefully received and will be incorporated into future editions.

Hospitals receiving a government grant are listed as "public hospitals" even though they are frequently under private management.

The names of superintendents or secretaries have not been given because of the frequent changes in the personnel and the confusion that would result thereby.

A number of hospitals have been listed under several headings in Part II. This has been done to make this directory of more value for reference.

In studying hospital conditions in Canada, we have been impressed by the tremendous assistance given by the small hospitals to the communities served by them. Although working under great handicaps, these small hospitals and outposts have been instrumental in saving many lives and in ameliorating the hardships of the sick. In the more isolated and frontier districts they have been, indeed, a potential factor in promoting immigration and settlement. The municipal hospital scheme elaborated in the prairie provinces has proven quite successful; also, the "subscriber" system developed in the mining districts of Nova Scotia has proven to be a satisfactory means of supporting an institution.

Hospital expansion is proceeding with ever-increasing rapidity. The general public is realizing, as never before, that the hospital is a real asset to the community. Today the tendency is not to duplicate hospitals where they already function, but rather to enlarge existing institutions when possible. There is a strong tendency to favour fire-proof construction, better food service, increased laboratory and X-ray facilities, and better housing for the nurses; the noise problem is being scientifically studied. Greater accommodation is being set aside for maternity patients; case and labour rooms are being provided and there is a laudable tendency to permit all maternity patients a private room for the first day following delivery. Increased initial cost is favoured if it will result in a decreased maintenance cost.

There are still many gaps in our hospital system. Despite excellent public and private efforts, the accommodation is still far from adequate for the incurable, the convalescent, the tuberculous, or the juvenile mentally defective patient. Moreover, the alarming increase in drug addiction and the difficulty of effecting a cure under ordinary home or hospital conditions have focussed attention upon the need of special public facilities for the treatment of these unfortunates, either by the construction of special institutions, or by a revision of the legal authority and the physical equipment of existing neurological institutions.

One notes a lingering tendency for some Hospital Boards to build hospitals or additions without obtaining skilled advice from authorities on hospital construction. The modern hospital is such a highly specialized unit that expert advice must be considered a sound investment. It is to be regretted that some hospitals are being constructed without adequate open porches, without sufficient plumbing or utility services and without considering economy of administration or the necessity for future expansion.

Readers will note that the figures given in the "Total for the Province" line in the various provincial summaries frequently exceed the total for the figures given in the columns directly above them. This is due to the fact that paediatric hospitals are listed under both "Public General Hospitals" and "Paediatric Hospitals". Also certain tuberculosis, orthopedic, mental, maternity or private hospitals may appear in more than one classification.

We wish to acknowledge most gratefully the kind co-operation of the Department of Pensions and National Health and of the Secretary of the Canadian Council on Child Welfare.

Department of Hospital Service,

CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

COUNTY INSTITUTIONS

The institutions of the first class, are those given over wholly to the care of the insane, and satisfactory in so far as equipment, the provision of sanitary arrangements and trained personnel are concerned. The second class includes those institutions of relatively the same description but also used for the reception of paupers. In the third class are the institutions lacking many of the essentials which make them suitable for the care of the insane.

To this list must be added the accommodation of forty-six beds provided in St. Roch's Hospital, St. Boniface, Manitoba, and the fifteen beds in Our Lady of Lourdes Sanatorium at Stellarton, N.S. In Saskatchewan the public general hospitals are required to make provision up to 10 per cent of their capacity for tuberculosis patients. Throughout Canada the majority of the larger general hospitals take care of a varying number of tuberculosis patients. These patients are admitted for diagnosis or other investigation or are too sick to be removed to special institutions.

It is interesting in studying the above table to appreciate that Canada, with a population of 9,507,000, and a death rate from all forms of tuberculosis of 81.6 per 100,000 in 1927, has provided for the care of pulmonary tuberculosis 5,401 beds, which gave 1,605,581 treatment days' service in 1927. The total replacement value of these institutions is reported as $14,547,000. Eleven of the largest institutions, each having 245 beds or more have a replacement value of $10,457,000 and provide 3,831 beds. They vary in their per diem cost of upkeep from $2.08 for the Sacred Heart Hospital to $4.12 for the King Edward Memorial Hospital, Winnipeg. The sanatoria, administered by Protestants, range from $2 to $3, one being over $3. The average number of days' stay per patient varies from east to west. Laval, Quebec, reports 300 days, Muskoka 321, Manitoba 347, Saskatoon 374, and British Columbia 438 days stay for treatment. There are 3,927 admissions reported, according to the stage of development of the disease at the time of admission; 680, or 17.5 per cent were admitted in the early or incipient stage; 1,096, or 27.9 in the moderately advanced stage; and 2,141, or 54.5 in the advanced stage. Some years ago 69,500 cases in sanatoria were reported upon as to chance of recovery in relation to the stage of the disease at admission; 99.4 per cent of the 17.4 per cent of admissions should recover. 85.9 per cent of the 27.9 per cent of admissions should recover, and only 67 per cent of the 54.5 per cent, the largest group of admissions, have this hope of recovery.¹⁰—Report, Canadian Tuberculosis Association.
